WE NOMINATE

Wilbur Willis Swingle, one of the country's leading and untiring research biologists, whose remarkable investigations of hormones and related subjects received added impetus this week with the announcement that the New Jersey Heart Association has made a one-year grant of $12,000 to Princeton University for the support of a Swingle-inspired project. Marking the first time that the state-wide, privately sustained organization has earmarked funds for basic research here, Swingle and his staff will be carrying forward intensive studies of newly produced adrenal compounds as part of the long-range program in adrenal research Swingle brought into being when he was called to the University nearly three decades ago.

Internationally known for his contributions to the problems of shock during World War II and the author of more than 200 papers dealing with such fundamental matters as circulatory failure, plasma and plasma substitutes and the adrenal cortex, this 66-year old native of Warrensburg, Missouri, is the prototype of the soft-spoken, publicity-hating scientist who thinks only of the progress of his experiments and never of personal sacrifice and 'round-the-clock days in the laboratory. As the third teacher-scientist to hold the Henry Fairfield Osborn Professorship, a memorial to the former president of the American Museum of Natural History, he is the successor to two of Princeton's "scientific greats," Edwin Grant Conklin and Edmund Newton Harvey.

Over the years Swingle's research efforts have been carefully integrated with his teaching and it is highly probable that he will be remembered as the developer of some of the country's outstanding men of science. More than 30 men have completed their doctoral dissertations under his guidance and at the moment five graduate students are working with him as research assistants. Several years ago, when a major pharmaceutical concern announced the establishment of a special fund for the advancement of research in the fields of biology, microbiology and chemistry, it made two individual grants of $10,000—one to Swingle and the other to a former student, who had written his senior thesis in 1938 in Swingle's laboratory.

Swingle, the recipient of grants from the National Science Foundation and active in a variety of professional organizations, including the New York Academy of Science, took his bachelor's and master's degrees at the University of Kansas and taught there prior to serving with the World War I Army and completing his graduate studies at Princeton. From Yale, where he was a member of the Faculty from 1921 until 1928, Swingle moved on to the directorship of the Department of Zoology at the University of Iowa. It was during his three years in Iowa City that he met and married the former Alice Sullivan, who since their marriage in 1929 has been his full-time research assistant in the depths of Guyot Hall.

For constantly seeking to broaden man's understanding of biological processes; for demonstrating how basic research and distinguished teaching can be effectively combined in a university laboratory; for strengthening the Heart Association's vitally important research program; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

UNSTORMY WEATHER

That's The Trouble, Weather, a good news story almost any week any year, was THE big news story in the Princeton area this week—but it was far from a good one.

The rains came, at long last, on Sunday, falling hard and dropping nearly half an inch of urgently needed water on the parched farmlands and pastures throughout Mercer County. Yet, the showers refused to prevail, and they did very little except wet the farmers' appetites for more.

"We need three or four more like that one which was in good shape," one weather expert observed. With precipitation close to three inches below normal (4.06 inches) for the month of July, he was quite right — and this season's worst drought in 50 years was alarmingly apparent.

While the Princeton Water Company, noting a healthy drop in usage during the past week, continued to urge residents to save the increasingly precious commodity wherever and whenever possible, the weather — in varied guises — persisted in related stories.

The State Water Resources Advisory Committee, for example, used the critical water shortage to excellent advantage in its latest, three-hour appeal to a New Jersey senatorial committee to place a water referendum on this November's ballot. As decision time on the question approached, so the state's water problem became more acute. (See story, page 3).

In nearby Rocky Hill, Sunday's cloudbursts contributed to a tragic drowning in addition to crop-aiding. The extra-dry banks of the Millstone River, turned to

'Y' Ceremony Set

A 40-minute ground-breaking program for the new Princeton 'Y' building has been scheduled for 7 p.m. next Monday. The ceremony will be conducted at the site of recently razed Avalon on Bayard Lane, where the $537,941 'Y' structure is to go up during the coming year.

Principal speaker for the long-awaited event will be Judge A. Dayton Oliphant, who, as chairman of the board of trustees of the YMCA-YWCA Corporation, has had much to do with realization of the organization's building plans. Also on hand will be members of the board, presidents of both the YMCA and YWCA, acting mayors of Borough and Township and, if available, Governor Meyner.

The public has been invited to attend the ceremony, which will be held indoors at 'Y' headquarters, 120 John Street, if rain interferes with the outdoor program. A special shovel for the occasion will be provided by RCA.

mod by the brief but heavy rainfall, clouded the waters at Rocky Hill Falls and made the search Tuesday for a young boy's body difficult. (For details, turn to page 3). It was the second Millstone death this year in the treacherous area east of the Kingston dam.

Also on Tuesday, one of the hottest, muggiest days of the summer, the State Highway Department laid tar the length of Nassau Street—tar which melted, caused autos to slip, damaged the undercoating of many vehicles and resulted in a hasty layer of non-toxic-hazardous gravel by harassed SHD workers. Borough Engineer I. Russell Riker, prompted by a number of telephone complaints and angered "because they didn't use material with a higher melting point," called Trenton and asked for an explanation.

Tuesday's hot weather was "an act of God," an SHD official informed Mr. Riker, adding, "I'll check on it right away."

EVERYTHING'S ROSEY

At Rose Cottage, That Is. Borough Council met in special session Tuesday afternoon and, along with discussion of parking problems and approval of the municipality's newest firehouse, reviewed the thorny question of Rose Cottage. Trustees of the Thompson Estate (including the controversial cottage) are "ceasing and desisting in any present plans to raze" the old building, members of Council were advised.

At the urging of Councilman Tristram B. Johnson, acting mayor, the governing body asked the Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce to "act as a catalyst in obtaining meaningful bids and specifications" on a renovation job for the much-used structure located just east of Borough Hall. Non-too-meaningful fix-up bids ranging from $100 to $5000 have been submitted since the razing vs. revitalization issue was first mentioned some months ago. (For other news of Rose Cottage, see page 15).

Council's "search for uniformity" in the Borough's parking ordinances neared its goal at the special meeting as a result of approval, after first reading, of amendments to the present parking laws. Public hearings on the amendments will be conducted at Council's next regular meeting, August 13.

NEW FIREHOUSE AND GARAGE SAFE AND SOUND: Borough officials and representatives of the Princeton Volunteer Fire Department inspected the municipality's new Hook & Ladder firehouse on Harrison Street Monday afternoon—and the picturesque brick building passed its first test with flying colors. Approved by Council at a special session Tuesday, the recently completed quarters were to be occupied by equipment from the Witherspoon firehouse sometime this weekend. Pictured outside the new structure during inspection are (left to right) Fire Chief George B. Rollings, Fire Commissioner Charles J. Rockne, Harold M. Hinkson, Hook & Ladder trustee Wilbur F. ### ROUND-UP

While much of the Princeton area is jumping with construction jobs in full swing, some projects have been held up considerably by the nationwide cement strike, reportedly settled at mid-week. . . two major buildings near U.S. 1, Curless-Wright and Industrial Receptor Laboratories, felt the effects of limited cement, and the Borough's new parking lot at Witherspoon and Wiggins was delayed for lack of curbing ingredients. . . on the subject of construction jobs, vacationers will return to the Harrison-Hamilton traffic light project this Thursday, conceivably completing it next week, and bids for the development of long-anticipated Avalon Place will be considered at Council's August meeting.

Up In The Air

Unbeknownst to most members of the Princeton citizenry, start of construction of Educational Testing Service's new plant at "Active Acres," reported last week in TOWN TOPICS, came close to being delayed indefinitely by Lawrence Township officials. The stickler: Would the beautiful skyline of Lawrence Township be broken by ETS 105-foot water tank, contrary to existing requirements?

Members of various Lawrence boards and committees weighed the matter carefully, but couldn't answer the township question. They feared surveys might have to be taken, and approval of the project might have to be postponed. Then, while shaving one morning, Maj. C. T. Morris, Rosedale Road, got a bright idea — and ended the dilemma in 10 minutes. He raised two helium-filled balloons on 100-foot strings, cleared the site area and viewed only an unbroken Lawrence skyline.

TOPICS Of the Town

WATER SHOWDOWN

"D-Day" For Reservoir, With proponents and opponents of a proposed Stony Brook reservoir waiting anxiously, the New Jersey Senate Committee on Revision and Amendment of Laws convened in Trenton this Thursday to act on a recommendation for a water referendum November 5. The referendum would call for the issuance of $14,000,000 in bonds to finance construction of Raritan Basin reservoirs at Stony Brook, near Princeton, and at Spruce Run, near Clinton.

The Citizens Committee for a Sound Water Plan, which has fought the reservoir project vigorously since it was first announced several months ago, remained quiet as D-Day arrived. Apparently, its membership felt that Sen. Wayne Dumont's all-important committee was convinced of the inadvisability of the water referendum at a series of recent public hearings—at which the opposition spoke loud and long.

By contrast, the State Water Resources Advisory Committee, responsible for initiating the referendum idea and creating a great stir in these parts, issued a five-page statement Wednesday. This committee, headed by George F. Smith, cited the critical water shortage now plaguing most sections of New Jersey and urged prompt legislative action to put the referendum on November's ballot.

Through its chairman, the advisory group wants that the state is confronted with a vital decision "in its long battle to overcome a perilous water shortage," and asked the public to recognize the long-range detriment to New Jersey should action on the solution again be delayed. Mr. Smith, appointed by Governor Meyner 11 months ago, reminded legislators and citizens that the program recommended by his committee "calls for the development of additional water supplies on a self-sustaining and self-liquidating basis."

Three Alternatives Noted. In concluding his lengthy statement, Mr. Smith observed, "The committee feels that one salient fact has persistently been overlooked during New Jersey's years of strife over the water issue. No matter what plan is advanced to fulfill the state's present and future water needs, it will require some sacrifices, some loss of land, SEEING IS BELIEVING: Early-rising Princetonians rubbed their eyes in disbelief one morning this week as they passed Palmer Square East and saw a herd of young cows grazing there. An itinerant cattle man apparently thought the handsome coral-like cedar fencing around the property meant it had been zoned for pastoral uses. He was soon advised otherwise, though the bovine visitors certainly looked at home in the middle of Princeton—and they eliminated any need for grass-cutting. (Town Topics Photo by Frank Chachowski of Photo Group) some unpleasant but necessary displacements. The longer we wait the greater the sacrifices will be, and the greater the hardship on a state desperately in need of solving a fundamental problem.

"We are dealing with a statewide situation and must therefore first consider the welfare of all the people. We are not happy about the inevitable need to dislocate some people now residing on the proposed reservoir sites. All of us, however, must give first consideration to the 5,400,000 residents of New Jersey, some of whom are even now suffering because of water shortages."

As Sen. Dumont's committee prepared to make its big decision, Mr. Smith said the Legislature has three alternatives: It can put the advisory committee's recommendations on the ballot in the form of a referendum and let the electorate decide; it can recommend a proposal deemed by the committee to be unworkable as an initial project; or it can resort to indecision and stand by while the water problems of the state multiply in their scope and in their gravity.

If the first of Mr. Smith's alternatives is endorsed by the senate committee, it is the belief of the referendum's opponents that the state's voters will approve the reservoirs come fall, basing this belief on the fact that only a majority of citizens in a few counties seem to be against them. Thus, the Citizens Committee for a Sound Water Plan has high hopes that the Dumont contingent will kill the plan this week. Particularly in view of the fact that Governor Meyner has ordered a senate session for mid-August to appoint new supreme court justices—a session which could make legislative action on the referendum an easy matter.

SWIMMING TRAGEDY

Boy Drowns in Rocky Hill. A once-popular Rocky Hill swimming hole, which residents of this area have long since vacated because of several drownings in bygone days and because of the modern public pool now available nearby, proved the scene of another swimming tragedy Tuesday afternoon. About 1 o'clock, 14-year-old William Walsh Jr., an unsuspecting visitor from Woodbridge, lost his life in the murky, unsafe waters.

Young William, reportedly a poor swimmer, was enjoying a dip in the Millstone River while his mother, brother and two carloads of acquaintances from Woodbridge and Perth Amboy were picnicking in the small park area at Rocky Hill Falls, near the Kingston Trap Rock Company at the foot of Washington's Headquarters Road. Somewhat mysteriously—perhaps as a result of striking his head against an underwater object while caving—the teenager disappeared from view.

When his mother, Mrs. Grace Walsh, first realized William was missing, the shallow water was searched quickly, but no one in the group was able to swim well enough to dive into the deeper water. Several workers and residents in the neighborhood responded to shouts for help, and formed a "human chain" out into the river, James Harris of Rocky Hill finally located the body, in eight feet of water, and, with the aid of Charles Chippis of Roseland and Louis Thornton of Stockton, pulled William ashore. By then, however, the youth had been underwater close to 15 minutes.

HEROIC BUT BELATED EFFORTS FAIL TO SAVE LIFE: The combined talents of Princeton Hospital, the Rocky Hill First Aid Squad and the Princeton First Aid Unit tried valiantly Tuesday afternoon to save the life of 14-year-old William Walsh Jr., a visitor from Woodbridge who drowned in the muddy reaches of the Millstone River, between Kingston and Rocky Hill. Dr. Benjamin M. Wright (photo at left) supervised the operation, giving artificial respiration instructions to Rocky Hill volunteers while Nurse Joanne Moriconi attempted to force air into the boy's lungs by means of an oxygen mask. Dramatic efforts spared their tragic conclusion (photo above) as Miss Moriconi tried vainly to renew William's breathing process and Albert Toto, a tireless Princeton volunteer, worked at controls of oxygen apparatus. (Town Topics Photos by Photo Group).

The Rocky Hill First Aid Squad reached the swimming hole rapidly, with volunteers applying artificial respiration at once. Members of the Princeton First Aid Unit, with vitally needed oxygen equipment, also arrived shortly after 1 p.m., accompanied by Dr. Benjamin M. Wright and Nurse Joanne Moriconi of Princeton Hospital. Their revival efforts were determined, well-executed and complete—but in vain.

At approximately 2 o'clock, Father Perini of St. Paul's Church administered last rites and Dr. Wright pronounced the 14-year-old dead. Mrs. Walsh became near-hysterical, then one of the volunteers thought he detected a pulsebeat. Frantic revival efforts were renewed, but, at 2:35, Dr. D. T. Russo, Somerset County coroner, officially declared the youngster a victim of death by drowning.

Mrs. Walsh, attended by Miss Moriconi, who performed valiant work throughout the ordeal, was taken to Princeton Hospital for treatment of shock. The victim's brother Lawrence, 6½, and his friends left the tragic scene in a state of disbelief, weeping and confused. Visibly upset, State Troopers Peter Ruggerio and Leon Slicer of the Princeton Barracks, responsible for controlling a crowd of 50-plus extremely well, cleared the picnic area—and thus concluded the tragedy at Rocky Hill Falls.

COTTAGES IN QUAKES
Princetonians Uninjured. A minimum of three Princeton couples, visiting in Mexico, are believed to have been in or near Mexico City this past weekend when a series of heavy earthquakes hit that area, killing many persons and causing damages amounting to millions of dollars. The U. S. Embassy in the Mexican capital reported no American fatalities or serious injuries.

Princeton University released a statement to the effect that Dr. and Mrs. Hubert N. Alyea, 4 College Road, were scheduled to arrive in Mexico on July 24, several days before the quakes. The University also announced that Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Lefschetz, 11 Lake Lane, left Princeton over a month ago for a trip through Mexico. Dr. Alyea is a chemistry professor, while Mr. Lefschetz is a mathematics professor-emeritus.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Smith of Houston, who resided on Wheat-shen Lane in Princeton Township until moving to Texas last winter, were vacationing in Mexico City with their three youngsters at the time of the severe quakes. Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Howe of Pennington.

FROM GOOD GUY TO BAD GUY: Having completed his celluloid term as Marshal Wyatt Earp of Tombstone in "Gunfight at the O.K. Corral," Burt Lancaster takes no chance of being "typed" as a "good guy." He's now J. J. Hunsecker, vicious Broadway columnist, in "Sweet Smell of Success," which opens a five-day run at the Playhouse this Friday.

UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

(A review of one-act plays by Garcia Lorca, Tennessee Williams and J. M. Synge appears on Page 10 of this week's issue. The "one-acters" continue at Murray Theatre through Saturday evening.)

Change of Schedule. "Thieves' Carnival" by Jean Anouilh will be the University Players' next production at Murray Theatre. The farce will be presented Tuesday through Friday, August 6 to 10, at 8:30 p. m.

The Anouilh play replaces "Under the Sycamore Tree." Producer Morton Goolde announced this week that "difficulties over obtaining rights for the production" caused the cancellation of the scheduled American premiere of the Spewack's "Sycamore Tree."

The new choice is a farce which enjoyed a long run at the Cherry Lane, one of New York's leading off-Broadway theatres. The play is concerned with the wanderings of three entrancing thieves who move through the upper circles of French society. Disguises, seductions and assorted fraudulent activities abound in the comic evening.

Anouilh has been one of France's most popular playwrights in the contemporary period. Among his most recent works produced in this country are "The Lark" and "Ring Round the Moon," which the Players did here last season.

Don't be an easy mark for burglars!

Burglars are always on the watch for tell-tale signs that you're away. Suppose they break in?

Furs... clothing... jewelry... typewriter... radio... appliances and other belongings (your belongings!) would soon have other owners.

Take common sense precautions when you go away. Most important, make sure your personal belongings are well protected with insurance... at home and away.

News Of The Theatres

more aligned against than slinging... a political leader who always meant well and always had the best interest of New York at heart—a person who never willingly or knowingly accepted a dishonest dollar in his stormy political life. True or not, it is an interesting interpretation of his personality, ably brought into focus by the star and his supporters: Vera Miles as wife No. 2, Paul Douglas as the Tammany Hall bigwig who runs the political show, Alexis Smith as wife No. 1, Darren McGavin as the Mayor's secretary and Walter Catlett as Governor Al Smith.

Sweet Smell of Success (August 28, from its title, sounds a whole lot sweeter than it really is. As a matter of fact, there's nothing sweet about the picture (with the notable exception of newcomer Susan Harrison; it's ugly and hounded from the time the first typewriter is punched until the last jaw is punched. The dialogue is crap and realistic, while the photography is strictly low-key to accentuate the complete sordidness of the proceedings. All in all, it's a dog-eat-dog affair—but the film is done with an excellence which very likely will place it high among the top 10 at year's end.

Burt Lancaster, contributing a splendidly forceful performance (the rule, not the exception, for him), portrays an allegedly typical Broadway columnist—a writer with an overpowering ego who idolizes the damaging strength of the printed or televised word. Tony Curtis, turning in a nasty but neat bit of acting (the exception, not the rule, for him), is a cajoling, blackmailing press agent—the archetype of all heels. Watching them trying to outdo each other in each other proves a screen delight. Don't attend if you're a technicolor non-follower, but don't miss "Sweet Smell." If you want to look at the half-life of New York's elite society at its white-and-blackest best.

An Affair to Remember (August 7-13) is just that—whether you recall Leo McCarey's 1939 hit, "Love Affair," or see it for the first time in this lush CinemaScope reworking by the same skilled director. The story, though make-believe and note-to-note convincingly written, is an appealing one—the tale of a play-boy-artist and an ex-night club singer who fall in love on route to merry different partners and eventually wind up together after near-dastardious complications. The physical production is superb, including wonderful color treatment of the French Riviera, an ocean liner and a great deal of New York City. The title song represents top-flight supper as do such notable secondary actors as Neva Patterson and Cathleen Nesbitt (both seen and admired on McCarey's stage last fall) and Richard Denning.

But the movie's greenest laurels belong to Gary Grant, Deborah Kerr and Mr. McCarey. With restraint and honesty, the two principals run the gamut from high comedy to tragedy, playing sly-fiction characters who aren't particularly worthwhile human beings, and they manage to prevail beautifully due to their tremendous ability. Their personalities triumph over a script which might defeat less accomplished talents. The director's deft touch, untried since 1952, is still one of Hollywood's most respected—a good reason why "Affair" has been revived with unusually vigorous new life.

BUCKS PLAYHOUSE
True in "Feud," The celebrated Ed Sullivan-Sue Allen "Feud" achieves something of a truce at the Bucks County Playhouse this week, with two of their television "regulars" playing together there. Julia Meade, popular auto-seller on Sullivan's CBS program, is co-starred with another well-known TV personality, Gene Rayburn, announcer-comic on the Alen NBC show. Their production: "The Love of Four Colonels" by Peter Ustinov.

"Colonels" is scheduled to run for a full two weeks at the famous country theatre, through August 10, with evening performances every day but Sunday and matinees this Saturday and next. Following the current offering, Frances Farmer makes a long-awaited re-appearance in "The Chalk Garden," which will feature Audrey Ridgwell and Arthur Malet.

LEAVES AND SHELLS

The Shell Game. It's the kind of thing you could do yourself, but probably never will. Stirring rods for hot drinks and cocktail picks for short hors d'oeuvres have been topped with shells from somebody's beach backyard. This beach-combing has turned up mostly moon shells, which are easier to grasp, and some small whelks that seem proud of their place atop a cocktail pick; there's probably a smoked oyster on the other end.

The Town Shop on Palmer Square has all these. Then there's a new collection of serving pieces in a bubbly kind of lucite about a quarter of an inch thick. Baked into the lucite are Japanese maple leaves (real) that have been dipped in gold leaf (real) or black paint (real). The combination of textured lucite plus the delicate gold line of the leaf is genuinely striking. You may have bowls, platters, hors d'oeuvres trays, large and small salad bowls.

Other bowls in the shop are made of Hawaiian monkey pod wood—a variety not likely to be found growing wild in Mercer County. It's a light wood, rather on the maple side, and it has been used to make a big salad bowl that looks like a whole pineapple cut in half lengthwise.

There is also a papaya shaped bowl that's really pear-shaped, and little individual bowls to complete the family. Sauce dishes and spoons go along, and there's a two-foot long leaf to use for serving — well, maybe monkey pods, who knows?

Take your hostess an inexpensive and useful present. Lightweight aluminum has been painted in clear, sunny pastel colors and made into trays (small and large), bowls (ditto), a canape dip and tray and an ice-bucket that could be a cookie jar. The yellow, turquoise, and pink pieces have grey pussy-willows and the white ones have a fine silver line around the edge. Prices start at $3, the most is $6 for the big tray.

Coral—the kind that grows in tropical seas—spreads its branches over some heavy white pottery pieces and a wide fish net captures the coral. There are large chop plates, salad bowls and servers, and the coral refers to both color and object.

Blueprints. Building an airplane this summer? Can't do it without directions. Radio and Hobby, the shop at 12-14 Witherspoon, is giving away a booklet, 25 pages, with complete drawings that tell you all you want to know.

A fleet of 98 plastic airplanes awaits the model-builder who is looking for something to do on a hot summer afternoon. ("Trade Wind," "Sea Master," "Sky Warrior," and the Russian "Bison" are on the check list).

For $4.95, you can have the Admiral's whole fleet, five models in all. A merchant fleet and an all-force set also have five pieces for $4.95.

"We Don't Mean It"

If your summer-time guests include some good friends you've known since pre-historic times, serve them highballs in the glasses now being offered by all people. The Town Shop on Palmer Square.

We specify long-term friends because each glass bears the following comment in gold lettering: "Please note: if we get to drinking Sunday afternoon and start insisting that you stay over until Tuesday, please remember: WE DON'T MEAN IT." In other words, let us show you the way to go home.

Surf glasses, with their bubbles showing coolly through the clear glass, are summer's most effervescent glassware. Formal occasions on a terrace might call for plain crystal with gold fleur de lis. The Town Shop is formal or informal, depending on your choice.

to early times for such antiquities as the tri-motor Stinson, the Curtiss Condor and a U.S. Navy blimp from the '20's. Going back even farther, Radio and Hobby has models of the Santa Maria and the Robert E. Lee (for which, presumably, you have to wait). Eager Beavers will be interested in building the Eager Beaver, the Army's 2½ ton 6x6 truck. It has a removable top, operating tail gate and doors, six military figures and all their gear.

On a different scale, you may have nine-inch military figures in plastic for 98c. Choose from Marine or infantry, or take them both.

You may have seen them, but they're new to us. For H-I-O train hobbyists, there's a little crane that hauls things up when you turn the winch by hand, and a double signal light that is, of course, electrical. The crane is $2.95, the signal light $2.50.

FUN IN THE SUN: What with Princeton weather warmer and more consistently sunny than usual this summer, east side Princeton youngsters have made good and frequent use of the new wading pool in the Erdman Avenue (Jugtown) Playground. The Borough added the facility to its recreational system in June—and also constructed a new outdoor basketball court—so that the two-year-old Erdman set-up now is one of the most complete in the community. According to Mrs. William G. Stollenwerk (background), playground director, the handsome circular pool has been averaging 20 to 25 children during its daily hours, 2:15 to 4:45 p.m. (Town Topics Photo by Photo Group)

It's New To Us

For Mary Ann, Chlypo dresses turn out for a party at Bailey's, Princeton Shopping Center. They are red prints that look rather like bandannas. One is an all-over print with a sequin here and there on the bosom, one-inch straps to hold it up, and red net petticoat to hold it out. A similar dress in red has a border print and black ribbon straps. Prices are about $3.95 each.

A completely different kind of dress is a daeron and cotton shirt-waist with straight skirt, deep V neck and shawl collar. We saw it in bottle green with a brown and white striped sash. Also comes in yellow or peach with shirt collar and buttons to the waist.

You can wear a pair of roped-off espadrilles with your shorts or swimming suit. These are natural canvas or black, at $3.98. That bathing suit might be the black pique ($8.95) with circles of color done in needlepoint. Has shoestring straps, in sizes 10-16. Another suit comes in black or grey with yellow print and piping. The legs are cuffed shorts.

Bermuda pajamas have a pink and white striped cord top and plain pink Bermuda shorts. Another way to keep cool is to wear Gotham's "Summer Frost" hosiery, each pair of which is mentholated, of all things.

In the maternity department, Bailey's has a three-piece pink and white ensemble consisting of skirt, sleeveless blouse and jacket. The blouse is white with a yoke of the stripe. You may have it in grey, too. A separate maternity blouse comes in beige, maize or pink. It is quite plain except for a four-inch band of smocking which serves as collar to the boat neck and cap for the sleeves.

Wool or Not? New slacks at Princeton Clothing look like daeron and wool, but they are actually rayon and wool which makes them welcome in a summer wardrobe. They are wash-and-wear, like everything these days, and they come in medium and dark greys for $10.95.

Your jacket this year will probably be cotton stripe. The fabric is English and the color is olive with a black stripe in varying widths. Polished cotton jackets are olive or tan.

The pride of the shop at 17 Witherspoon is a short-sleeved sports shirt in cotton batiste. It has a button-down collar and it comes in neck sizes in white for $4.

Daeron and wool suits, to finish out the summer and begin the fall, come in greys, greens, blues and tans. We saw them in stripes and solids at $50 and $55.

MUSIC In Princeton

BAND TO PLAY AGAIN

Second Concert Planned. Strains of classical and popular music will again be heard from the outdoor amphitheater in front of Nassau Hall on the University campus Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. The Princeton Community Band under the leadership of Bruce McKinney of The Great Road will present its second public concert.

Founded by Mr. McKinney, a student at Princeton University, earlier this summer to meet what he felt was a long-standing community need, the band will lead off with John Philip Sousa's "Hands Across the Sea" march. Sousa will be followed by a 17th century piece for brasses and two selections from Mussorgsky. The Mussorgsky pieces, "Pictures at an Exhibition" and "The Hut of Baba-Yaha," have been arranged for the band by Erik Leiden.

Originally written for piano in 1886, "Pictures at an Exhibition" has since been scored for orchestra by Ravel, Tchaikovsky and others. The suite was inspired by an exhibition of watercolors by the architect Victor Hartmann. As a tribute to his intimate friend, Mussorgsky enlivened paraphrases to the best of the pictures. Conductor McKinney feels that the Mussorgsky will be the highlight of the evening's entertainment.

"Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach is next in order, preceding R. Vaughn Williams' Folk Song Suite. The three numbers from the suite are "Seventeen Come Sunday," "My Bonnie Boy" and "Folk Songs from Somerset."

Philip J. Lang's band arrangement of selections from "Guys and Dolls" by Frank Loesser and F.W. Meacham's "American Patrol" will conclude the program.

Instrumentalists from the Westminster Choir College's summer session are participating in the concert. All musicians are welcome at the band's Thursday night rehearsals at Princeton High School, whether they wish to play in the band or merely listen.

"Rhapsody in Blue" To Come. At its third concert of the summer, the community band is planning to undertake George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue." The famed work has been scored for the band by Frede Grofe. The piano soloist will be Miss Malja Merzinsky, who graduated from Princeton High School last June.

The band has scheduled one of its first concerts outside Princeton. It will play this Thursday evening at the State Hospital in Trenton.

Three automobile accidents involving nine persons in the Princeton Area during the past week cost two of the victims amputations at the scene of the accident.

The driver of a motorcycloer lost his lower right leg in a crash with a car that upset at an intersection in West Windsor Township. David R. Johnson, 48, the motorcycloer driver, of Main Street, Windsor, was taken to Princeton hospital and treated for shock. His condition was reported as fair.

The two youths in the car, Joseph Powers, 17, and James V. Garmore, both of Trenton, were treated for bruises and released the same evening. A girl passenger in the car was uninjured. The accident, which occurred at Village Road West and North Post Road, is still under investigation.

Last Tuesday, Shelley Jordan, 37, of John Tindall Farm in Dutch

Neck, suffered a "traumatic" amputation of the left arm in an accident with a tractor-trailer on Plainville-Cranbury Road. Police said Mr. Jordan had just finished passing a car traveling in the same direction when he side-swiped the truck driven by Herbert Leusenring of Pittstown.

State Official Hurt, Salvador Bontempo of Newark, director of Veterans' services in the State Department of Conversation and Economic Development, was involved in a collision last Saturday on Washington Road at the Carnegie Lake Road intersection. According to Township police, a car driven by Edward Hall, 21, of Blawenburg Road, side-swiped Mr. Bontempo's car. Mr. Hall was attempting to pass another automobile.

Miss Catherine P. Gilbert, 19, of Trenton, suffered possible fractures of the right leg and knee as well as scalp lacerations. She was a passenger in Mr. Hall's auto.

SCHOOL EXPANSION NEEDS
Advisory Committee Formed.

Population growth in Princeton Township is again putting pressure on existing school facilities. In order to guide the planning for new classroom space which will be needed by September 1959, a Citizens' Advisory Committee on New School Buildings has been created to assist the Township Board of Education's New Buildings Committee.

The motion adopted by the board at its last meeting describes the new group's functions and shows its limitations:

"This committee will be asked to study, criticize and comment upon plans of the administration and New Buildings Committee of the Board and to recommend to the New Buildings Committee such planning or action as it may deem appropriate—but in no case will the citizens' committee be asked to assume either legislative or executive responsibilities."

The motion went on to emphasize that public responsibility for school planning and operation will continue to be vested in the Board and cannot be abdicated or delegated. The Board will, however, "welcome the advisory aid of such a committee of citizens who had undertaken a consideration of Princeton Township school building needs and who would make their recommendations known to the Board by meeting from time to time with the New Buildings Committee."

During the next two months, the committee will concern itself with such questions as the relative desirability of various building sites. The implications of the latest census figures and Township growth patterns will also be studied. Background information for committee discussions will be provided by the Board of Education and the school administration.

Wirsig Named Chairman. In order to obtain a broad representation and an independent group, a nucleus of the committee was invited by the Board and this group was then asked to invite additional persons to become members.

News Of The Theatres

MURRAY THEATRE
Wonderful 31-Actors. The University Players have done a "full-blown evening" with their current bill of one-act plays, reaching perhaps their highest level of the season. The plays are extraordinarily interesting and of great contemporary meaning, and they have been very well done.

The Players lead with Garcia Lorca's "The Love of Don Perlimpin" or "Belisa in the Garden," a gorgeous production of a richly written play. Then there is Tennessee Williams' "Immensely central" "Lord Byron's Love Letters," and following this J. M. Synge's "The Tinker's Wedding," makes an innocent-appearing third.

"Don Perlimpin" is certainly one of the most wonderful single-act plays existing. For it details the obsession and worship of the flesh of the modern world with a lasting grace of symbolism.

Enthusiasm for the play is of course induced by Donald Moffat, who was beautiful as Don Perlimpin. Mr. Moffat was so good that it seems fair to suggest that he worry about clichéd stylization as a tiny part of a lovely acting performance.

Some surprising details emerged out of a very exciting performance staged by Mario Siletti. His use of a lovely dramatic voice; and in another way, so did William Nix. The latter, as Lelia Barry, made an intense sprit as did Dora Landey, a sensuous Belshazzar; but the honors belonged to Mr. Moffat, his director and costume designer, who have imagined an exciting figure.

Potential Williams. "Lord Byron's Love Letters" was the second production of the evening and it kept its lively meaning, although Miss Hines and Peggy Allison failed to communicate honestly on opening night.

They should, telegraph its meaning by the middle dialogue exchanged between the two, but they made a long unnessary which the Misses Hines and Allison projected unnecessarily. It's the sort of fault which usually disappears within a few days at Murray Theatre.

"Lord Byron" is about honesty, however, and it really does make a long unnessary. (Fenton scores best as a lively and real wife who ventures into the salon of the Byron producers.)

"The Tinker's Wife" was a fine note for the evening. It relied on Ralph Williams, Kathy Kelly, Georgine Hall and Joe Bird for some very different talents and they all delivered.

The final play was loud, joyous and full of apparent detail. Kathy Kelly exceeded her age with a wonderful job of shouting and loving. Ralph Williams was too dear. Georgine Hall was too kindly or vain but ever so sweet as Joseph Bird wrestled with the idea of being a good padre.

The one-act plays, as is usually the case, show how good the University Players are.

Woodrow Wisk of 682 Ewing Street was named chairman of the advisory committee.

Now consisting of 15 men and women, the committee includes: James A. Arnold, the Rev. Wilbert J. Beeners, Mrs. Frederick Burrell, John O. Green, Charles A. Hurford, Glen Y. Miller, Clarence K. Morehouse, Willis G. Newell, J. H. O'Donoghue, Mrs. Donald Ruge, Mrs. Henry Summers, Mrs. Leslie Vivian Jr., Mrs. Robert J. Shaw and Bevin Smith.

The New Building Committee of the Board of Education, which will be working closely with the group, consists of the Rev. J. Donald Butler, James Perkins and John Dobbin, chairman. Mrs. Bertha Eisenmann, superintendent of Township Schools, and Dr. William Furell, assistant superintendent, will also play a major role in assisting the committee.

The Board indicated at its past meeting that a second advisory committee will be formed next fall after schools open. It will be made up of faculty and staff members.

AND THE WALLS COME TUMBLIN' DOWN: An unusual view of Princeton University's familiar Blair Arch was obtainable briefly this week as wreckers demolished Princeton's publications building at 38 University Place preparatory to construction of a new store on the site. Elaborate plans and specifications for the proposed structure, now on the Borough Engineers' desk in Borough Hall, will be studied and possibly approved at the Borough Planning Board's August session. Construction bids are to be let as soon as the planners signal their "green light." (Town Topics Photo by Photo Group).

Fete Sets Another Record

The fourth annual Fete staged last June for the benefit of Princeton Hospital netted a record $15,500. Mrs. David B. Miller announced this week. She is president of the Women's Auxiliary, whose members staged the Fete.

Mrs. George Cluett, Jr. and Mrs. Marshall M. H. Dana, co-chairmen of the committee, have presented Mrs. Miller with a check covering the proceeds. The sum included $1,752 from the Hole-in-One Tournament in May. The money raised (higher by $4,500 than in 1956) will be used to aid in the expense of adding and equipping the new 54-bed wing at the hospital.

ent of Princeton's school system, the Borough Board of Education unanimously and enthusiastically passed a resolution praising the administrator for his contributions to the Princeton educational scene. In particular, the board stressed his efforts during the construction of the new high school addition last year.

The resolution:

"Be it resolved that the Princeton Borough Board of Education here record its grateful appreciation to the Superintendent of Schools, Mr. B. Woodhull Davis, who, as representative of the Board, accepted the responsibility of the overseeing necessary in the planning and construction of the addition to the High School building, and by so doing, has brought to the task the full benefit of his knowledge and experience in educational administration, thereby executing his commission in a highly successful manner; that the Board of the Education also here express its appreciation of his faithful attention to detail and his self-sacrificing efforts to insure the best possible educational facilities for the community of Princeton.

"Be it further resolved that all acts of Mr. Davis in this capacity be here fully confirmed and endorsed."

SHORT, NOT SWEET
Two Defendants Fined. Fifteen minutes only were required in Township Court this Tuesday evening to dispose of a pair of cases, but, though the session was short, it proved anything but sweet for the two defendants.

Gerahone White, 34, of 371 Mt. Laura Road, was fined $15 for careless driving. He entered a plea of guilty to running into a parked car on John Street, "while I was reaching for my cigarette lighter."

Raymond Jackson, 21, of Trenton, was fined $15 for careless driving in the Mercer County workhouse, was fined $35 for allowing an unlicensed driver to operate his motor vehicle. Magistrate Louis R. Gerber ordered the defendant to pay up next week—or go back to jail.

Speeders Fined. Two Princeton residents were fined $30 each for traveling 65 on Nassau Street at 2 a.m.

Patrolmen James Kopflner and John Markson reported that two other cars escaped as they issued the early-morning summonses for exceeding the 35-m.p.h. limit. Magistrate Paul Cheselaro found George Jennings, 19 Birch Avenue, and Mrs. A. L. Dugger, 12 Leigh Avenue, guilty as charged.

No. 3 Outing Saturday. Mercer Engine Co. No. 3, will hold its annual outing Saturday at the Squatters Club on Quaker Road. Raymond N. Grover is chairman of the committee making arrangements for the affair, which will feature games and a wide variety of refreshments.

Assisting Mr. Grover are Leonard G. Birch, R. G. Donald, Lawrence A. Dugger, J. R. Hagdorn, W. A. Hussey, Edward L. Lloyd, Robert F. Mooney, Clarence H. Rodefeld, C. W. Rodefeld, Joseph J. Sternfels, Charles E. Tessen, A. J. Van Horn, R. H. Wood and H. J. Wright.

Birth List. Sixteen children were born to residents of the Princeton area in Princeton Hospital last week. Eight of the new arrivals were boys.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Thomas, 92 Linden Lane; Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald Jr., Basin Street; Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. William Bucci, 31 Locust Lane; Mr. and Mrs. William Pinkston, 219-B Marshall Street; Mr. and Mrs. James A. Devlin, 18 East Broad Street; Hopewell; Mr. and Mrs. Landon Peters, 72 Knoll Drive; Mr. and Mrs. Preston Barnes, Hopewell; and Mrs. Alan A. Boyden Jr., R.D. 1.

Parents of daughters are Mr. and Mrs. David Glick, 85 and Mrs. George Olive, Willow Road, Lawrenceville; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Marx, Rocky Hill; Mr. and Mrs. George Hardy, J Maple Terrace; Mr. and Mrs. David H. Gearhart, Walker Gordon Laboratories, Plainsboro; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kozachek, Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pitman, 153 Witherspoon Street.

GOING, GOING, GONE? Taking advantage of a Princeton Appliance Center television set to watch part of a recent Brooklyn Dodger baseball game, four area residents wonder if the Dodgers will be around to watch next season—and Town Topics asks them if they really care. (See question of the Week below). Members of the rapid audience—briefly, at least—are (left to right) John Allman, Edward Waters, Carlton Rose and Bernard (Red) Glover.

Question of the Week

Question: Do you care if the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers move to the West Coast?

Location: Princeton Shopping Center.

Jim Frangos, 72 Harriet Drive, salesmen: I'd be pretty disappointed if there wasn't a National League team in New York City, whether it's the Giants or Dodgers. I must admit I don't know the solution to the problem, though I'd prefer to see the Giants remain. I don't think pay-as-you-go TV is the answer. Advertisers are paying enough already, benefiting themselves as well as the viewers. The two teams will be making a big mistake if they go to California on such a basis.

Edward Waters, 115 Longview Drive, manager of the Sherwin-Williams branch office: Of course, I'm strictly a St. Louis Card fan. I can't see anything wrong with the New York teams going to the Coast. I watch TV games a lot, and I realize it would be terribly inconvenient for us to watch them out there—we'd be up until 3 in the morning for night games. We'd still have the Phils nearby, to be sure, but I can't visualize New York without a National League representative. I know there aren't that many Yank fans around. By the way, St. Louis is going to win the pennant!

Mrs. Anne Davis, Pennington Circle, waitress at the Annex: I don't care. I don't even know who's playing. And, believe it or not, originally I'm from Brooklyn.

Carlton Rose, Monmouth Junction, high school teacher: Yes, I'd rather see them stay where they are. Neither is my favorite, but they play good ball—especially when they play each other—and I enjoy watching them. They will be missed by me if they head west.

Bernard (Red) Glover, 96 Mountain Avenue, superintendent for Tower Construction: The only reason I would miss them is that there aren't that many fewer games to watch on television. Actually, I'm a front-runner for the Yankees all the way. I like the Giants pretty well, but St. Louis is my team in the National—and I think the Bums are for the birds. Except for the TV angle, I really don't care if the Dodgers go right out into the Pacific!

Mrs. Connie Johnson, Trenton, sales clerk: To tell you the truth, I'd love to see both of them—and the Yankees—transfer to the West Coast. I'm not much of a baseball devotee, but I know enough to understand that such transfers would all but eliminate baseball on our TV set—and my husband would be good for something else once in a while. When a game on, nothing else matters to him.

John Delbridge, 40 Bayard Lane, the Music Shop's hi-fi specialist: Since West Coast fans follow the major league clubs almost as closely as do easterners, I think the Dodgers would be well-received in Los Angeles and

Who's On First?

One of the most fascinating aspects of a particularly fascinating National League baseball season is the widespread speculation concerning the proposed switch of the Brooklyn and New York franchises to the West Coast. It is the basis of a number of significant questions—including such varied subjects as pay-as-you-go TV, the death of National League baseball in the east, the possibility of three major loops, more team travel by air, etc.—and now is the timely basis of Town Topics' Question of the Week.

No one seems to know for sure where the Dodgers and Giants will be playing next summer. First, the Brooklyn brass says the Bums are moving to Los Angeles, then there are rumors that a new park may keep the Bums from departing. Horace Stoneham of the Giants maintains his club is San Francisco-bound, whether the Dodgers pack up or not. If certain television deals are worked out, that is.

Come what may, the speculation is good fun—as are the attendant jokes. One Dodger devotee claims his beloved Bums cannot afford to move to the West Coast because "too many games will be smogged out." An ardent Giant fan of long-standing shouts, "Let's keep 'em both and get rid of the Yankees!"

The Giants in San Francisco. I also feel that, since even the smaller West Coast teams draw crowds equal to or greater than those found recently in New York parks, both New York clubs will receive enthusiastic support out there. I'm a native, longtime Californian—and I'd like to see them move.

John Allman, 11 Dodge Road, green coffee buyer: Frankly, no, just don't participate in the baseball. Let's put it this way—I'm not a baseball fan—period. Anything else but baseball!

REPEAT PERFORMANCE

Old Letter Turns Up Again: One hundred and twenty-six years ago, Daniel Webster, orator, patriot and statesman, wrote a letter to Commodore Richard Stockton of Princeton—grandson of one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. That was on August 25, 1831.

Fifty-seven years later—in 1888—the letter was found by John Potter Stockton, then living in Morven, the family's ancestral residence. He forwarded it to a newspaper from which a clipping is still available but which cannot be identified other than having been printed in 1888.

This week, the clipping and the original Daniel Webster letter were found again, by Mayard Stockton, 3d of Van Dyke Road. Both were among a wide collection of letters, papers and similar material which came into his possession when Morven was sold by the Stockton family to the late Governor Walter Edge 13 years ago.

Mr. Stockton, a great-grandson of John Potter Stockton, found the letter when sorting over various papers long in the family's possession. He plans to present the Webster original to the Firestone Library.

Excerpts from it follow:

Boston, Aug. 25, 1831

"My Dear Sir: Although it is true we have had little communications, recently, on political subjects, yet it gave me great pleasure to receive your letter of the 19th inst. If we have lately differed, in opinion, about men or measures, our general object, I am sure, has been the same, and we both equally desire to promote the honor and prosperity of the country."

"You appear to think it desirable that I should get back to what you denominate my free

THREE NEW MEMBERS—BUT NOT THREE OF A KIND: The Princeton Kiwanis Club initiated a trio of new members at last week's luncheon meeting and, in the process, set some sort of precedent—because each newcomer reached the organization by a different route. Richard J. Chorlton (right), club president, shown inserting a Kiwanis pin in the coat lapel of Dr. Robert F. Gohsen, president of Princeton University, welcomed Dr. Gohsen as an honorary member from North Carolina and Peter Carter as a regular member. Kiwanian Peterson came to this area to serve as director of the Industrial Research Laboratories in Plainboro, while Mr. Carter is the new public relations manager at ASCOP. Following the initiation ceremonies, Dr. Gohsen spoke at length regarding the University's "master plan" for the future.

trade notions of 1824. The difficulty, my Dear Sir, on that subject, consists, not in my position, but in the position of the country. How can the country go back to 1824? I find not much to alter in the opinions I then expressed.

"Under similar circumstances, I should again pursue substantially the same course. But every reflecting man must admit that, on subjects of that kind, time, and the existing state of things, are main elements to be considered, in forming practical opinions. I was content with the state of the law, before 1824, and opposed the change. But I declared, at the same time, that if the change did not take place, I would oppose another alteration—a backward movement, if such should be proposed. Our country, My Dear Sir, can bear many things; but it cannot bear, I think, frequent and violent changes in that which affects the daily industry and the daily bread of a vast portion of the community.

"It is not my purpose, however, to discuss these matters. I have no doubt the tariff laws might be amended, if there existed a proper temper and spirit so as to remove much of the existing dissatisfaction, without prejudice to any interest.

"The great hindrance to this is that the friends of the tariff cannot modify and amend their own measures. They are afraid to touch it, lest these who are enemies of the whole system should seize the occasion to destroy it all."

From the subject of free trade, Webster shifted to the question of canal and internal improvement.

"Internal improvement, is no doubt, a delicate subject, and one which requires more than ordinarily prudent management. Yet I do not see the danger which others perceive from this quarter. There seems to me to be nothing in the past which need alarm us for the future.

"The main work to which U.S. have contributed are the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal, the Delaware Breakwater, the Portland Canal, and the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal. These are works of admitted utility and of National importance. It might sometimes happen that a mere local subject might receive public aid; but an instance or two of that kind, if they should occur, would not, I think, be properly urged against the whole."

PBA SEEKS MEMBERS

Letters Sent to 262. As the first order of official business after opening its new office at 134 Nassau Street, the Princeton Business Association this week dispatched letters to 262 potential members of the organization, already some 100 businesses strong. The PBA decided to send the messages and increase its membership before continuing plans for an all-out advertising campaign this fall.

"Princeton has become, with mounting rapidity, a focal point for research of all kinds, many of them highly technical," Lor L. Quickle, PBA president, stressed in opening the letter. "Organizations providing more or less routine services to the laboratories, 'pollsters' and other groups have increased."

The president continued: "The Princeton Business Association was originally established to act as a clearing house for information about Princeton and the firms located there, and to provide unified action on problems affecting merchandising and service groups. The initial membership of about 100 was drawn from all parts of the community, but centered mostly in the Nassau Street, Witherspoon Street and Palmer Square areas.

"An amazing amount of mail is received, literally from Florida west to California, containing inquiries about employment opportunities, housing and similar items. It is almost impossible to answer questions pertaining to non-members intelligently. The company concerned should have a voice in such replies.

"The Association maintains a centrally-located office, which can easily be acquainted with your needs, be they referrals, manuals or what you will. Services available to members include representation at hearings, intimate knowledge of the community, its facilities and civic activities, plus any special service possible."

Mr. Quickle concluded the appeal message by inviting the potential members to join PBA, noting that present members will soon contact the 262 "possibles" to discuss the advantages of membership. He also urged non-members, in the meantime, to consult the PBA if any particular problems happen to crop up.

John W. Thompson, PBA's secretary, reminded Princeton businessmen this week that the new office is now open for discussion purposes, despite moving activities currently in progress, and that he is available from 8 a.m. to noon and 2 to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. The secretary mentioned that the PBA has agreed to sponsor the all-important School Safety Patrol program during the coming academic year. Continued on Page 20

Trust Hard to Break

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In the July 11 issue of your paper, in an article reporting the discussion of what should or should not be done with Rose Cottage, I note that a member of Council suggested the breaking of the Trust under Mrs. Swann's Will and the turning over of the properties to the Mayor and Council of the Borough.

This is a logical thought, but not a new one, having first been suggested before I became a Trustee some 15 years ago and at numerous times since. At one of which occasions, I learned that it was the opinion of Council that, if the Trust could and should be broken, there was question whether the properties would pass to the Borough or, by operation of law to the individual heirs of Mrs. Swann, not only Rose Cottage but the American Legion Building, the whole park and Borough Hall itself.

But, be that as it may, we have been but recently advised that there are apparently no precedents for such action in the New Jersey decisions. We know, too, that the Courts are loath to tamper with Trusts and would surely require more cogent reasons for breaking this one than the wish of the beneficiaries to take outright possession of the properties, and their thought, if they do entertain it, that changing political regimes would carry out Mrs. Swann's wishes more effectively than individuals.

There is also the thought, if one cares to reflect, that Mrs. Swann, in deliberately appointing individual Trustees, and providing for their successors, may have had specifically in mind separating her properties and their management from local "politics," for surely there must have occurred to her and her Attorney the obvious and simpler alternative of making a direct and outright gift to the Borough.

DAVID R. WINANS,

Trustee

County Tax Questioned.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Can't help being astounded by the 42% ($112,284) increase in the Township's "County Tax" in 1957. Isn't there a story behind this, and don't you owe it to your readers—especially if the increase is connected with the Township switch to 100% valuation, but even if not.

Yours for a better informed public,

DWIGHT O. NORRIS

80 Random Road.

(Editor's Note: It is not, of course, Princeton Township's "County Tax," since the Township serves only as an agent to levy and collect Mercer County's taxes as required by the larger governmental unit. However, Reader North has hit upon an apparent inequality which will exist theoretically until January 1, 1960, when all 13 of the governments within the county must use 100% valuation.

On the other hand, the change to 100% is due in part to the fact that municipalities such as the Township have for many years benefited when it came to the County Tax by having a notably lower rate of assessment than those of adjoining municipalities.)

Rose Cottage Too Old

Firm conviction that it may well be wholly impractical to attempt to modernize Rose Cottage was expressed this week by George C. Knaefer and David R. Winans, trustees of the Swann Estate and guardians of the small structure adjacent to Borough Hall.

In a letter to Mayor Sturges, they agree that a uniform basis for determining the cost of such a project must be reached, but arrive at a tentative figure in the neighborhood of $25,000. Among the major problems they point to are wholly inadequate kitchen and toilet facilities, lack of a cellar and the fact that "all present plans for the building which is believed to be the sole remaining cress-pool in the Borough."

Interested groups (the Nursery School, ballet classes, civic clubs) might well band together to create joint ownership of a new structure, Messrs. Knaefer and Winans suggest. They estimate a modern building of equal size might be built of prefabricated materials for as little as $15,000.

Players Praised

To the Editor of Town Topics:

May I please make so bold as to suggest that, in view of Princeton having no summer entertainment aside from one long week of the same picture at the only theatre of cinema in town, and the zeal and ability which "University Players" produce, act and work on less than even half of a shoe string; in the face of, especially, your reviewer's (more on this later on herein) discouraging review last week, because certainly to me, and I have heard many others agree, they are delighting many, especially visitors here with nothing to do once we have in the day seen the lovely campus and buildings at the University and the beautiful town; doesn't this alone (it is a contribution to the town) warrant some recognition—therefore, as I started to say above: May I please be so bold as to suggest that in your next edition or some one thereafter, that you nominate Mr. Morton Goolde and his engaging troupe as Princeton's Men and Women of the Season. I think it would encourage them considerably.

And how about your reviewer's opinion of the charming "The Enchanted." With all respect, which is, naturally, the rightful due of every individual, I challenge him on the score of, with—

The exhibit will be shown in front of the First Presbyterian Church. The bus-type show-room is being brought here by the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The heart of the display is a series of panels covering virtually the entire field of nuclear energy from a description of the nature of the atom, through the mining and refining of radioactive ores and the utilization of nuclear reactors in producing electric power.

THE NEW JERSEY POLL

A Look Ahead: Voters Tell Where They Stand

This summer, the New Jersey Poll conducted a survey among voters in the State to learn why they planned to vote for Governor Robert B. Meyner next fall, or why they favor his Republican opponent, State Senator Malcolm S. Forbes. Town Topics presents the results of the Poll (conducted by the Princeton Research Service) in adjoining columns below to portray voter reaction to each candidate's strong and weak points.

FOR MEYNER

1. He's done a good job: He's doing a wonderful job; he's a good governor; he's done well in office.

2. He's a good man: He's about the best; he's pretty good; he's the best man.

3. He's a Democrat: I'm a Democrat; always been a Democrat; believe in principle of Democratic Party.

4. I like Meyner: I like him; he appeals to me; I admire him.

More than three out of every five who said they would today vote for Democrat candidate Meyner named one of the above four as the reason for doing so.

Next most important reasons, judging by the number of mentions, are:

5. He's done many things; his many accomplishments; doing things for the state; what he has done.

6. Don't know Forbes: know less about Forbes.

7. Meyner's for labor: Meyner's more for the laboring class.

8. Don't like the way Republicans run things.

9. I like Meyner's policies.

10. He's had more experience.

11. He's above politics: above the approach of politicians.

12. He has good ideas.

13. He has the interests of the state at heart.

Following are some verbatim comments that sum up the thinking of many Meyner voters in the state.

He's doing a wonderful job. I know nothing about Forbes.

I like him for what he's done.

He's doing a pretty good job. He's been pretty reliable in what he says.

I think he's a good governor. Don't see where he's done anything wrong.

And a Jersey City man sums up his reasons for voting for Meyner in this way: "The guy's just got married; he may need the job."

RECIPE FOR MUD

Mud pies and oil wells have one thing in common—mud.

If Suzy tries to bake her pie it either gets hard or crumbles. The same thing can happen to drilling muds which are used to lubricate bits and to carry away rock cuttings.

The deeper you drill, the hotter it gets, the greater the pressure. Three to four miles down into the earth, temperatures often exceed 400°—twice that of boiling water. In such heat, drilling muds used to break down, solidify. Drilling stopped—wells had to be abandoned.

Mobil scientists worked years on the problem—part of the company's $1.5 million-a-month research program. Now the answer—a mud that stays muddy at higher temperatures and greater pressures than ever before.

This Mobil Recipe for Mud made it possible to complete the world's deepest well—four and a quarter miles, enabling America's oil men to tap heretofore inaccessible petroleum.

Another example of Mobil's master touch in oil, it helps guarantee you a continuing flow of the thousands of petroleum products vital to modern living.

For more information about drilling muds, write to Room 2400, Socony Mobil Oil Company, 150 E. 42nd St., New York 17, N. Y.

TWO OUT OF FOUR: Two players who seem certain of holding starting positions on Princeton's 1957 football team are Tom Merrick (left), regular tailback last year, and Fred Tiley, first-string fullback at a sophomore until he was lost for the season with a fractured collarbone. For an estimate of the possible starting lineup, see below.

SPORTS In Princeton

FOOTBALL OUTLOOK—3

(This is the third of a series of four articles on Princeton's football prospects for the 1957 season.)

Looking over the lineup, the familiar adage, "There is no substitute for experience," occasionally has to be violated in college football. It operates in theory before each season begins, but by the time the whistle blows for the opening kickoff, one or two exceptions have generally been made.

As of now, for example, the starting lineup for Princeton's 1957 football team consists of five regulars from last fall and six reserves. Unless material at a position was almost completely decimated by graduation, sophomores are far down on the depth chart and in no case is a member of the unbroken Class of 1960 currently assigned a starting berth.

The coaching staff logically will not credit sophomores—no matter what they showed as freshmen—with ability to beat out varsity holdovers at any position until they see the squad perform in pre-season scrimmages at Blairstown. Then, if a sophomore proves to be distinctly outstanding, he earns a starting assignment in time to work with the first eleven for its opening game against Rutgers.

Of the 22 players who have lined up against the Scarlet in the past two years, one has been a sophomore each season. In 1955, it was Jack Sapoch and last fall, it was Fred Tiley. Sapoch already ranks as one of Princeton's top backs of all time—Tiley missed the last four games of the 1956 season, but was a standout until he broke his collarbone at Ithaca.

Sophomores in the Picture. A clue to what may develop comes from Charlie Caldwell's pre-season estimate of team strength. The Tigers' head coach comments that "lack of veteran strength throughout the line will make us depend on the sophomores a good deal more than usual." He points out that "we'll have to give them time to acquire game experience" and expects that it will be a "November team," hitting its peak for the Ivy League's tournament entries, Yale and Dartmouth. The 1957 squad will have considerably more depth than any Princeton outfit of the past six seasons (partial proof is the fact that the current depth chart lists four players at every backfield position, in contrast to other seasons when it took considerable dredging to bring up three players of average ability at each spot in the secondary). By positions, these are the players likely to earn starting assignments, together with those sure to see action as their immediate replacements.

Ends — Only one letterman, senior Jim Valusia, 6-3, will report to Cappy Cappon, who is in his third decade of working with Princeton linemen. Two reserves, junior Bob Shephardson, and senior Wally Miller, each 6-4, are also listed among the first six players. The trio of sophomores under strongest consideration are Ed Kostelnik, 6-0; Jim Stansbury, 6-2; and Mike Conway, 6-0. Lynn Overzier, 6-3, is another able operative from this class. A month before practice begins, it is an even chance that two sophomores (probably Kostelnik and Stansbury) will have the starting end assignments, with Conway and Valusia the immediate reserves.

Tackles—One player, senior Bob Cascola (215) is a fixture, having come along as a reserve last season to take a starting assignment away from Rusty Melges with his fine, all-around performance. Tentatively paired with him is junior Gene Farcone, 210, one of four sophomores to win a letter last year. Forcone will get a battle from senior Lou Brinsmade, 215, while another senior, 210-lb, Julie McCull, slowed by injuries last year, is Cascola's immediate replacement.

Two good sophomores, Frank Schultz and Bob Fisher, both 200-pounders, won all-State honors in high school but are unlikely to budge Cascola or Farcone from the starting lineup. Here, too, the Tigers begin the year with more depth than they have had in the recent past.

Guards—Like Cascola at tackle, senior Dave Grubb (205) is a sure bet to hold down one of the starting positions at guard. A two-year letterman, he was a standout last season until injured in the Yale game. Senior Art Bens (203) is the current pick to fill the vacancy created by Mike Bowman's departure, while junior Bob Rock (215) is listed as Grubb's replacement, and Joe DeDeo (200) ranks third on the right side of the line.

Another sophomore who could break into the starting lineup is 186-lb. Art Max, a top lineman on the unbeaten freshmen who may show more than the more experienced Bens. Sophomore Ted Turner (175) is behind Bends and Hays, in contrast to end, tackle and the backfield positions, guard material currently appears a little thin.

Center—The big hope here is sophomore Frank Savetec (196), who may show enough to displace the veteran Paul Nyström. Too light—175—to make a durable player at this position, Nyström was bothered by injuries a good part of last year, but showed to good advantage as a specialist on kickoffs and points after touchdowns.

With 20 pounds over Nyström and a good freshman year behind him, Savetec may be the pick by opening game. Junior Howard Hudson, who saw virtually no action last fall, is the third candidate for the job.

Wingbacks—The good big guys have to be the nod over the good little guys in a game that often sees virtually every player on both teams knocked off by the bruising contact. Senior Jim Mottley played 150-lb. football as a sophomore, came along to plug a big gap in last fall's injury-plagued backfield and fits definitely into this year's picture. As a sophomore, he averaged 2.5 yards per carry and excelled as a passer, completing better than 60% of his passes (481 yards (top on the team) and four touchdowns). But chances are that Mottley, who is scheduled to switch to wingback, may be the reserve behind sophomore Bill McMillan. At 183, he is 30 pounds heavier than Mottley, is a solid blocker and showed as a freshman that he had above-average defensive know-how. It may be heresy to say it now, but McMillan is reminiscent of George Sella. He'll never be as fast, but he has a good pair of hands for catching passes, and unlike Sella, he can throw. Two 1956 holdovers, Ray Empson, only 150 but good in a broken field, and Bob Bryer, 165, are the other wingbacks on the squad.

Quarterbacks—The word should probably be used in the singular. As long as the going is close, the Tigers will go with Captain Jack Sapoch, whose 200-lb. frame is an amazing combination of dependability and durability. Equally adept on offense and defense, Sapoch's presence will mean a tremendous contribution toward the Tiger's bid for the 1957 Ivy title.

Lee Weber, a converted fullback; Gene Locks, a junior; and sophomore Robin Prince will be his replacements. Sapoch played more than anyone else on the team in his first two years, and the reserve quarterbacks this season will see a lot of action from the bench.

Fullbacks—There is a strong possibility that the player who led the Ivy League in scoring last season and was third from the top in the east will be no better than third-string fullback at Princeton. Hewes Agnew, 195, who was credited with 61 points last year, seems ticketed to lose out to Fred Tiley, 195, who got the nod over him as a sophomore. Chances are, too, that sophomore Mike Ippolito, 190, may rank ahead of Agnew because of unusual running power that is blended with ability to pass. Intriguingly, the fourth candidate for the position is Alan Matzler, who won his letter as a sophomore while averaging 4.4 yards per carry and booting every one of the 13 points after touchdown assigned to him. The Tigers enter the 1957 season with greater depth at the fullback position than any Princeton team back to the mid-thirties.

Tailbacks—The return of two players injured during most or all of the 1956 season and the addition of a pair of better than average sophomores gives Princeton good depth here, too. Figured to top all comers for the starting job is senior Tom Morris, 185, whose 502 yards on offense last season represented almost a third of the team's total.

The reserves returning are Sargent Karch, 170, who dropped out after a Blairtown injury last September, and John Heyd, 165, unavailable after being hurt in the Penn game. The sophomores are Dan Sachs, 170, starting tailback on the unbeaten freshmen, and Dick George, 177, somewhat in Sachs' shadow but not a player to overlook this year.

FAC WINS 10TH

Stops Junction Nine, Scoring five times in the first inning, the Princeton Athletic Club experienced nary an anxious moment last Friday evening as a decisive 12-2 verdict over Princeton Junction was posted in the one-sided Tri-County Baseball League. Princeton's entry already has captured the 1957 championship, with the customary season's-end playoffs coming up August 6, 9, 13 and 16 (tentative dates).

Giants-signed Bob Montgomery, along with Warren Huff, Alan Ammerman and Iven Riddick, sparked the winning PAC attack, each with an extra-base blow off the combined and none-too-effective scrappings of Dick Skillman and Dave Wilbur. For the champs, Riddick gained his seventh successive conquest.

While the PAC (10-2) was busy showing why it has dominated the loop all summer, Montgomery Township 7-6 was equally busy trying to clinch second place. This runner-up club apparently accomplished with an 8-0 shutout over the Junction nine and a 9-0 forfeit win over South Brunswick during the course of last week's activities. With only one regularly scheduled playing date remaining (see below), the Montgomery team seemed to hold a distinct uphanded.

South Brunswick (5-7) lost a golden opportunity to close the gap on Montgomery when its players failed to appear for last Friday's forfeited game. Princeton Junction (2-9) was eliminated mathematically from contention as a result of its resounding losses to the top two clubs.

out any exception, his saying the company (also your reviewer seems to have missed entirely the harbed and brilliant wit that the play is also a most humorous satire on government) is amateurish. While the company is a whole, naturally, is not professional (how, perforce, could it be yet), certainly Mr. Moffet's performance was and the charm he brought to making weights and measures a fascinating "job" instead of a hum drum one was, to me, one of the joys of the play, and the way the chorus, so to speak, of the children complementing the whole story indeed helped charmingly and sweetly. As did the musical score and I consider them more professional than many groups I have seen on Broadway as for me the thing that often has impressed me is the mechanicalness of choruses, children and otherwise. This chorus was anything but mechanical.

So, sir, if you do not think I am out presumptions, I say, once more, I hope you will please see fit to encourage this fine enthusiastic group with a nomination for them as visitors who make life pleasant for the outside, as I am, in Princeton for the summer. Thank you very much if you will consider this proposition.

Beauty Contest Winner. Miss Julia Somerville, 18, of 27 Race Street won the first regional prize at the Shriners Beauty and Talent Contest at Carver Center in Trenton. She was representing Khufu Temple 120 of Princeton. A graduate with honors of Princeton High School last June, Miss Somerville will represent Khufu Temple 120 at the Shriners Annual Imperial Council Convention in Philadelphia on August 21. In September, she will enter the Philadelphia Museum School of Art.

Winners and runner-ups of the Philadelphia contest will win four-year scholarships at accredited colleges and universities as well as cash awards. Mrs. Raymond D. Holmes of 184 Witherspoon Street will serve as chaperone for Miss Somerville at Philadelphia.

Two other Princeton girls competed in the area contest at Trenton. They were Carlo Johnston of 39 Clay Street and Sonya Massey of 171 Birch Avenue. Charles C. Wooding of 35 Birch Avenue is Potentate of Khufu Temple 120.

New Teachers at High School. Two new teachers will be added next fall to the staff of rapidly-expanding Princeton High School. The appointments were confirmed by the board of education at its last meeting.

Mrs. Patricia D. Beane of 168 Harrison Street, will teach mathematics. She is the wife of Dr. William Beane, professor in the Woodrow Wilson School for Public and International Affairs at Princeton University.

The Latin program at the High School will be supplemented with the part time teaching of Mrs. Eva Kaus.

Fresh Air for City Children. Eighteen underprivileged New York City children are spending two weeks in this area under the Herald Tribune Fresh Air Fund. The Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce has made the arrangements for the second year in a row.

Hosts include: Dr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony D'Isorio, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bhandurkar, Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Rock, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Balzer, Mr. and Mrs. John Lasky, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Strant and Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Slaby, all of Princeton.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Van Wegen and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Haisington of Pennington; Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Fyelling of Princeton Junction; Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. McMahon of Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Dawson of Skillman; Mr. and Mrs. Henry De Vore of Belle Meade; and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Toman of North Brunswick Township.

Italian-American Club Picnic. At 1 p. m. on Sunday, the Italian-American Sportsmen Club will hold its 10th annual picnic for members, families and friends. The affair will be held at the club's old grounds north of the Princeton Shopping Center.

The program will include dancing to the music of Leon Farnel and his orchestra, as well as prizes, games and favors for the children. Admission is $2 for families and $1.50 single.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes Clarence DiDonato, chairman; Harry Russo, co-chairman; Angeline Cifelli, Nick Bartolino, food chairman; Philip Pirone, bar; Louis Zelivino, parking; Nick Cifelli, admission tickets; Tony Pisani, clams; Victor Carrozzini, food tickets; Angelo Pirone, corn; and Joe Frediani, melons and soda.

The Peaches are Great...

FROM THE GARDEN STATE

New Jersey is famed for the peaches which are produced in her orchards... and high-quality, tree-ripened New Jersey peaches are in the market from mid-July to mid-September.

Many of the top varieties of Garden State peaches were developed at the N. J. Agricultural Experiment Station at Rutgers, the State University.

Local residents can get these delicious peaches for their table fresh from the orchards because they are grown so close to nearby markets. With the exception of some earlier varieties, they are free-stone and suitable for canning and freezing. They are picked at a near-ripe stage and pre-cooled before shipping.

Next time you are buying fruits and vegetables, ask your grocer: "Are they from Jersey?" Help yourself to the riches of the Garden State.

Obituaries

Dr. Robert W. Elliott, 52, a former resident of Princeton, died July 28 in Newton, N.J., of a heart attack. He was chairman of the department of modern languages at Bates College, Lewiston, Me.

Dr. Elliott came here in the late 20's following his graduation from Rutgers. He earned his master's and arts degrees from Princeton in 1928 and his Ph.D. in 1936. While a graduate student here, he served as an instructor in French, specializing in the writings of Balzac. Dr. Elliott had also taught at St. John's College, Annapolis, Md.; Exeter Academy in New Hampshire and the Kingswood School in Connecticut.

Mrs. Irma E. Franklio, 73, of Sea Girt, died July 26 in Princeton Hospital. She is survived by a son, Dr. Charles M. Franklio, and a grandson, both of Princeton.

Widow of Dr. Charles M. Franklio, Sr., she had been a resident of Hightstown for many years. The funeral was held in that town, with burial in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

Henry D. Woodson, 81, died July 27 at his home, 197 Witherspoon Street. A retired borough employee, he was a member of the First Baptist Church.

His wife, Mrs. Mary Jane Woodson, survives. The service was held at the Baptist Church with the pastor, Dr. R. D. William T. Parker, officiating. Burial was in Princeton Cemetery.

Shouts Construction—the first loop throwout of the season.

Jack Hawkins, Nassau Oil's 15-year-old pitching sensation, fashioned a whitewash job, making certain of the win by blasting the key hit of the contest, a two-run homer, against Hawkins, 13-year-old Gil Fisher, in his initial start for Matthews, put up a good fight by holding the lead-hitting league-leaders to three runs.

Hawkins proved he's only human during the course of Nassau Oil's second success of the week, a 7-4 verdict over Bowers Construction, in relief of Tommy Peterson, he allowed all four runs during a last-inning rally by the locals.

Tom Corcoran and Norman Cantor, the latter also making his first start by the season, chalked up badly needed victories for the Lions Club, which moved into second place by virtue of a 6-4 win over Bowers and a 10-4 romp over Matthews. The pair of triumphs gave the Lions 23 points, to 31 for the pace-setters, leaving Bowers in third place with 17—after a fine bid the previous week—and Matthews still in the cellar with 13.

Men's Doubles Boon

Many Entries File. With 24 teams, a record entry, seeking the title, play began Monday on the Church Courts in the men's doubles tournament. The event is the last of the season sponsored by the Playgrounds Committee.

H. Y. Tyler and Bill Bowen have been seeded first. Bowen (see picture, page 21) has already won the men's singles and shared in the mixed doubles title. Other seeded entries are Don Mathey and Jack Ferns, Marty Katz and Bayard Jordan, Ed Breitbach and Ely Epstein.

First round matches saw Mathey and Ferns defeat Ted Taylor and Ernest Birchler, 6-2, 6-1, and Breitbach and Epstein, top Randy Reynolds and Charles E. Bieleby by the same score. Webb Harrison and Dave Smoyer, each a junior champion, paired together to defeat Neil Bull and John Yost, 6-1, 6-4. Clement Pease and Hank Williams won over John Fine and Paul Nergaard.

WINNERS WIN AGAIN: Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding and Bill Bowen (right), who earlier this summer won the women's and men's singles titles, paired together to take the mixed doubles crown. They defeated Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Smoyer, 6-3, 6-2. (Town Topics Photo by Photo Group.)

Other entries are Fred Laschever and Benjamin Silverman, Ed Payne and Guy Woodward, Frank Chen and Russell Ashley, Pete Johnson and Bill Richardson, Doug and David Langston, Milton White and Joe Snider, Bill Pitzlenger and Jim Cryan, Fred Raubinger and Eric Crocinger, Jon Glouevitch and Pierre Pirou, Sl Spengler and Alex Robinson, John Mack and Frank Tidd.

PERFECT RECORD NEAR

Lucky 13th For Drake's. Enjoying continued brilliant hitting by fast-baller Bill Bergen, Drake's Plumbing & Heating waited to its 13th consecutive triumph Tuesday evening, and now must beat only one more also-ran to wind up a perfect regular campaign in the Princeton Community Softball League. Bergen tossed a mifty two-hitter to stop ASOCF, 8-3.

Despite one costly error, the Drake's nine was never in trouble, thanks to Bergen's ability in the tough spots and a 12-hit attack by his teammates. Highlight blow for the victors was Manager Ted Drake's home run during a four-run sixth-inning outburst.

With National Guard maneuvers almost over and the league almost back to normal, two other games were played Tuesday. Second-place Nassau Social Club, with Huck McCredy throwing a five-hitter, turned back Sannino's, 5-2, while Pearson's, with Bob Ball carving a nine-hitter and coasting all the way, overwhelmed Frazee's, 22-8. Power for the winning club was furnished primarily by Mason Reagan (three hits, five RBIs) and Bob Lasche and Elake Carls (each with a home). Eight Frazee errors also aided the Pearson cause, which featured a 15-hit night.

In distasteful competition this past week, Thorpe's continued its victory habit by downing ETS, 10-4, and ASOCF topped Bell Telephone, 4-2. Bee Baker (now 14-2 for the year) pitched Thorpe's win as Marion Donaldson, Ann Greif and Miss Baker sparked a 23-hit spurge. Next Tuesday, at 8 p.m. the red-hot Thorpe's club will play an all-star team from the Hamilton Township Girls' League at the Little League field in White Horse.

Having already sewed up the 1957 title in the Tri-County Baseball League, the Princeton Athletic Club kept second place temporarily out of reach for Montgomery Township Tuesday evening by blinding the runner-up club (now 7-7 for the season) by a 10-4 count. Manager Charlie Perpetua pitched an eight-hitter for PAC to lift his mound record to 3-1. The victorious nine got its runs in a hurry—three in the first, primarily as a result of Warren

MONSTRATIONS PLANNED

Pond Disorders Reason. As a result of the current epidemic of farm pond disorders in this area, the Stony Brook-Hillstone Watersheds Association, in cooperation with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service and the State Fisheries Laboratories, is set to sponsor a series of on-the-field public demonstrations of pond management techniques. The first of these demonstrations is being scheduled tentatively for next Monday evening, or, if necessary, the evening of August 12.

Among the techniques included in the program are diagnoses and treatment for fish population imbalances, rioting weeds and rampant algae, and efficient and productive fertilization, as well as various methods of keeping control checks on the progress of pond-farming. Many pond-owners will receive personal notification regarding the demonstrations, when they are scheduled definitely later this week, and these persons are urged to spread the news to others.

In planning these demonstrations for the near future, Grand Walton, conservation director of the watersheds association, said the Soil Conservation Service has reported well over a dozen cases of afflicted farm ponds within the past season.

"Pond management, like farm management," Mr. Walton commented, "is an art to be learned through direct experience. The watersheds association was founded to help land-owners solve their conservation problems. In this case, it can perform the service of bringing the biologists and pond-owners together to study pond ills on native grounds."

Fund Receives Four Awards. The Princeton University Fund, which in its 1956-57 annual giving campaign raised $1,281,715 in unrestricted funds, recently received four awards from the American Alumni Council. The prizes were given for the Fund's methods of solicitation.

George J. Cooke Jr., executive director of the fund, accepted the awards at the Alumni Council's annual meeting in Pasadena, Cal. The prizes included the "Lifetime Award for the direct mail campaign of the year," the first place prize for "parent cultivation and solicitation," a first place tie with Brown University for the best single promotional piece, and a special citation for "effective use of direct mail in raising and informing volunteer fund workers."

Princeton's annual giving campaign resulted in a 7.1 per cent alumni participation. In addition, 1,390 parents and 269 friends made contributions.

The American Alumni Council represents more than 800 colleges and universities in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Alaska and Hawaii. The contest open to all institutions holding membership in the Council, was judged by representatives of leading magazines and advertising agencies.

I wish to thank the officers and members of the Princeton Bank & Trust Company, the First Aid Unit and others who assisted me during my recent illness. I also wish to thank those who took and cared of me at the

Hopkins and Jefferson Hospital - but Princeton Hospital is tops.
I'd also thank the staff of the manager and staff of the Princeton Inn, and other friends who rendered assistance with flowers and cards. Particularly my friends among the Princeton University alumni body who were very friendly while I was working at

This new colony of homes lies in an area of many distinguished addresses.
They, too, are distinguished in architectural design, extensive and luxurious. Everything has been done to create homes on 1/2 to 3/4-acre sites that would blend in with this famous Trenton-Princeton area. Harry Malow,
A.I.A., is the architect.

PLEASANTLY DECEIVING

for $23,500

When you drive up to this cozy little house with its gray shingles, white shutters and delightful landscaping, it has the look of a homey comfort place. Actually, every inch of space has been cleverly used to provide happy living for a family of four or five. Living room with fireplace, dining room, study with built-in bookshelves, four bedrooms and bath are all neatly tucked in. There are extra lots when, when added up, make it a bargain-air conditioner, air fan, aluminum storm and screen combinations, disposal, dishwasher and washer-dryer, attractive drapes and curtains. To top it off, the condition is so good that no new decorating would be needed.

COMFORTABLE COMBINATION

for $35,000

We don't often have combination lots to offer—a nice stone and frame house near schools, on a prettily landscaped one-half acre, with four bedrooms (one so good it could easily be made into two), two baths, and a realistic price. That about sums up the obvious advantages of the property. Judging by the calls we've had for just such a house, it shouldn't last long. Knowing the livability of the house, it should not be on the market again for many years.
